MXL® Unveils Affordable Recording Package

The all-in-one MXL 550/551 Recording Ensemble includes two condenser microphones and offers outstanding performance for vocals and instruments.

El Segundo, CA, November 18, 2009 – MXL® Microphones the professional audio division of Marshall Electronics, has introduced an affordable condenser microphone package for both vocal and instrument recording. The MXL 550/551 includes the MXL 550 condenser microphone for vocals as well as the MXL 551 condenser mic for instruments.

According to MXL, the 550 is a versatile and robust microphone that offers exceptional clarity and tonal quality for all types of vocal and instrument applications. Internally wired with world-class Mogami® cable, the MXL 550 has a large gold diaphragm and combines a FET preamp with an electrically balanced output for an uncompromised performance in every session.

Also included in the ensemble is the MXL 551 for instruments. A ruggedly constructed condenser microphone with a high-gloss finish and sturdy chrome grill, the 551 provides the dynamic range often needed for acoustic guitars, drums, pianos, percussion, stringed instruments and more.

“The 550/551 is a great package for new artists who need a recording ensemble to complete their project recordings,” says Jim Mona, MXL’s National Sales Manager. “It’s an affordable option that offers excellent results.”

The MXL 550/551 Recording Ensemble includes carrying case and mic stand adapters.
